Sunday, November 14, this congregation was proud to celebrate Mrs. Lisa Calhoun as the inaugural recipient of the "Here I Am" award here at Fairhope United Methodist Church. Rooted in Abraham's response to God during a dramatic season of sacrifice (Gen. 22:1), this newly conceived recognition is presented in honor of one who has "loved boldly" through their outstanding service to both church and community. A longtime member of Fairhope UMC, Lisa Calhoun has served as an infectious disease nurse at Thomas Hospital for over 40 years. She also served as our primary cook for Wednesday Night suppers for nearly 20 years. She and her family have offered a witness of steadfast love and support that now spans several generations.

Upon receiving this award, Lisa replied simply: I love my church.

We are much obliged to Lisa for her love, dedication and service. Hers is a model of discipleship on which all can agree!

A replay of this presentation is available on the Fairhope UMC Facebook page. Search the CLC service for November 14.
